them with the Small Business and Technology Development Center which took them to a higher level.

"This was a very wonderful business, an unusual business before we stepped in," Dr. Mostashari said.

"The first thing we teach our students to do is to look for problems and fix them first, then we work on expansion, but Ezzell Electric was already on very solid ground as far as customer satisfaction, costs, practices, .... we were able to begin with a higher level."

Miss Ezzell said she wouldn't have dreamed there was a place for her in her father's business, but through faith in God and help from many sources she has found her niche.

"I can't imagine being anywhere else. This was the place for me; holding my daddy's hand as he leads Ezzell Electric forward," she said.

"We will run with endurance the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith."
